BRIDGE BOARDS MEET

ADMIRAL PEARY TO VOICE HIS BELIEF IN AERIAL COAST PATROL AND SWISS ARMY SYSTEM

The tenth annual dinner of the Explorers' Characteristics will take place at the Hotel McAlpin, New York, on Jan. 14, when Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary will preside and will give a short address upon "Preparedness." He will declare that there are two practical constructive and economical national defense propositions which can be taken up at once by the people of the country without waiting for government action. These are the aerial coast patrol system for the protection of our coasts and the adoption of the Swiss military system by the individual states. Both are vital to our national defense; one is part of our first or sea line of defense, the other of our second or land line of defense, the admiral believes. Both are valuable as a peace asset should we have occasion to use either as a military asset. The coast patrol would be valuable as an adjunct of the life saving service, while the Swiss system in its training and disciplining of our boys and young men will add materially and permanently to our national efficiency. Following Admiral Peary, Mr. Herbert R. Lang, just back from an exploration trip covering six years in the heart of the Kongo, will tell of valuable collections he has made for the American Museum of Natural History, New York, His talk will be profusely illustrated with lantern slides showing big game and little known regions of the Kongo. George K. Cherrie, formerly a member of the Roosevelt South American expedition and who has just returned from a second trip to the Amazonian jungle, will show some moving pictures of the famous River of Doubt and tell of his more recent experiences in the Amazonian jungle. Mr. Frederick K. Vreeland will give an account of some of his recent experiences in the Amazonian jungle. Mr. Frederick K. ## SUFFRAGISTS AND "ANTIS" GRAPPLE address, began one of the most trenchant and sarcastic battles of verbiage and wit that has been recorded in this city between women in many years. It was so keen that whereas the two opposing speakers were sitting together and chatting before the onslaught, they were noticeably apart and cool at the close.

During the course of the argument, Representative William R. Palmer, of Oxford, Democratic state committeeman, who was in the audience came in for a share of the suffragist leaders' ire when he was accused of asking questions that were a direct aid to the anti-suffragist speaker. It was denied that he was more than a friend of some of the anti-suffrage delega-tion, which had come to Bridgeport from Litchfield and elsewhere. Open accusations that the anti-suffrage cause had received substantial support from liquor interests throughout the country was denied by Mrs. Goodwin, but it was said that one check received from Mr. Ballentyne, the brewer of Newark, N. J., had been returned uncashed; That the recent campaign in New Jersey was financed from the pockets of the anti's and that only $3 was left at the close was asserted.

A statement by Mrs. Hepburn that writings of her opponent had been found recently in saloon windows in Ohio, brought forth argument, which disclosed that the state of California which long has had suffrage and also Colorado, had no fear of women's Cohen, city court interpreter, were domination at the polls as far as ilquor interests were concerned. Upon the subject of morals and divorce staquoted show that wherever women's veto is cast there immorality and divorce increases. On the divorce question it was shown that in Colorado there are are only seven to every 100 marriages The opening address made by Mrs. Hepburn was a beautiful appeal for suffrage. It was begun by the statement that all western states have suffrage and it was noticeable that they inference being that if suffrage in one state was found wanting others nearby would not have accepted it. It was shown that women should have government, because it touches closely upon their home interests of man to-Tradition and habit were acday. cused of keeping suffrage back in the

She began by giving Fred Bergen, of 47 Clarence street, six concrete reasons why it was not a driver in the employ of John R. wanted. She said that this is no time problem to the government, she said, to make it advisable to introduce an equal number of unintelligent women add to the tribulations and expense IN DEATH BATTLE of the country. This would be exceptionally notable in the crowded eastern states. It would let into vote many ignorant negro women of the south whose husbands and fathers now have no vote.

Women are not considered despots d a class apart from men, b Indirect accusations by inference class of women have interests in compolls through the menfolks even now, she said.

After 45 years of vote in some western states Mrs. Goodwin alleged, anti-suffragists cannot see any material improvement from the experiment. "They do not have a single faw," said Mrs. Goodwin, "looking owards the benefit of womanhood or childhood that was not also first on the statute books of the male suffrage states. There were many such as the maternity laws on eastern statutes that the west did not have.

"Women suffragists have uncertain political and somewhat unethical ideas," said the "Anti," and she nuoted directly from speeches of Anna Shaw and other suffrage leaders demanding that if these statements are believed by the suffragist, the conservative and the feminist, they are uncertain and unethical and if not believed, their leaders should be de-

Probably the hardest blow that was delivered to suffrage last night was in the rebuttal, when Mrs. Goodwin leclared that women who want to vote of political questions should first remember that their traditional prerogative of handling servants, which had descended unhampered by man for generations, is still the most perplexing question and one of the most inefficiently governed, known to man.

Mrs. Hepburn, whose ready wit was qual to all occasions last night, had acts and figures presented that called for equal display. Whether or not this was forthcoming, will probably never be known, as the majority of those present, including many male and women Socialists of note, were in favor of suffrage from the taking of the initial secret ballot.
